What is parental responsibility?

Parental responsibility means assuming all the rights, duties, powers, responsibilities and authority that a parent of a child has by law. A person with parental responsibility for a child has the right to make important decisions about their upbringing, for example,

- Decisions about where they live.
- Whether the child should receive medical treatment.
- What religion they should follow.
- Which school they should attend.

Who has parental responsibility?

Mothers and married fathers automatically have parental responsibility and will not lose it if they later get divorced. Unmarried fathers do not automatically have parental responsibility. An unmarried father can get parental responsibility by:

- Registering the birth jointly with the mother (born from 1st Dec 2003)
- Through a 'parental responsibility agreement' between him and the child's mother
- As the result of a court order

People other than a child's natural parents can acquire parental responsibility through:

- Being granted a residence order or a child arrangement order (from 2014)
- Being appointed a guardian
- Being named in an emergency protection order (although parental responsibility in such a case is limited to taking reasonable steps to safeguard or promote the child's welfare)
- Adopting a child

In addition, a Local Authority can acquire parental responsibility if it is named in the care order for a child.

For further information please see: <https://www.gov.uk/parental-rights-responsibilities/who-has-parental-responsibility>.

General principles for schools

Everyone who is a parent, whether they are a resident or non-resident parent, has the same right to participate in decisions about a child's education and receive information about the child.

School staff must treat all parents equally, unless there is a court order limiting an individual's exercise of parental responsibility. Individuals who have parental responsibility for, or care of, a child have the same rights as natural parents, for example:

- To receive information e.g. pupil reports
- To participate in activities e.g. vote in elections for parent governors.
- To be asked to give consent e.g. to the child taking part in school trips.
- To be informed about meetings involving the child, e.g. a governors' meeting on the child's exclusion

We have received the following advice from the County Solicitor's office concerning pupil surnames:

- Where only one person holds parental responsibility for a child, he or she has the legal right to effect a change of the child's surname without any permission or consent.
- Where more than one person has parental responsibility for a child, the surname of a child can only be changed with the consent or agreement of all those having parental responsibility for a child.
- Where two or more people have parental responsibility for a child and there is in force either a residence or care order, then one of those people can only lawfully cause a change of the child's surname if all other people with parental responsibility consent in writing.

In any other situation it is necessary for the person seeking to change a child's surname to obtain an appropriate order from a court.

- Fees are payable a term in advance. Invoices will be prepared and distributed on a termly basis.
- If, after an initial reminder, the bill remains unpaid then you will receive a letter informing you that your child will not be able to attend anything other than their funded sessions until the bill is paid.
- If payment is still not received the school finance officer will be notified and your child will be excluded from all non-funded sessions.
- All invoices apply to the parent or guardian they are addressed to and an outstanding invoice for one child's attendance will exclude any subsequent siblings from non-funded sessions until the invoice is paid in full.
- All non-funded sessions and lunch clubs booked must be paid for even if your child does not attend.
- If your child is sick or on holiday, then you will still be expected to pay your bill as these sessions are allocated for the term.
